

Beyond120 Spring 2024

Professional Development Coursework

<https://www.advising.ufl.edu/beyond120/coursework/>

These courses focus on different aspects of professional development and are available to all students with a major in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

SLS1409 - Professional Pathways in the Liberal Arts and Sciences (1 credit)

An introduction to career development, professionalism, and transferable skills. Students will develop resumes, cover letters, LinkedIn profiles, learn powerful interviewing techniques, and identify connections between these skills, themselves, and industries of interest.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
Tuesdays, Period 6 (12:50-1:40)	In-Person	Spring 2024
Thursdays, Period 4 (10:40-11:30)	In-Person	Spring 2024
100% Online	Asynchronous Online	Spring 2024

IHS1100 - Introduction to the Pre-Health Process (1 credit)

An introduction to current topics in healthcare and guidance on how students can prepare to be a healthcare professional and apply to health graduate programs. The use of the word “medicine” in this course is all-encompassing to include all healthcare professions.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
Wednesdays, Period 8 (3:00-3:50)	Synchronous Online	Spring 2024

SLS1006 - Global Pathways: Preparing for International Engagement (1 credit)

A preparation for overseas experiences, providing intercultural perspectives and practical skills necessary to craft a strategic action plan for global engagement. Integrates world experience, civic engagement, and professional development.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
100% Online	Asynchronous Online	Spring 2024

IDS1054 - Introduction to Research in the Liberal Arts and Sciences (1 credit)

An introduction to research opportunities, skills, and practices. Students will develop research plans and project proposals, learn the expectations of professional conduct in a research setting, and engage with the wider research community through laboratory and archive tours, guest speakers, and Q&A sessions.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
100% Online	Asynchronous Online	Spring 2024

SLS3342 - Strategic Self-Marketing in the Liberal Arts and Sciences (1 credit)

An exploration of professionalism, leadership, and how to positively influence and motivate others. Students will learn principles of brand identity, management strategies, and situational and cultural awareness in the workplace.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
100% Online	Asynchronous Online	Spring 2024

IHS3102 – Pre-Health Pathways (2 credits)

Consistent/continual personal and professional growth is the core to preparation for health career professions. Offers pre-health students opportunities for analysis, engagement, and assessment of intrapersonal, interpersonal, and critical reasoning pre-professional competencies defined by healthcare professional schools. Creation of professional development plan and professional school 'application portfolio' demonstrate knowledge, skills and qualifications needed for competitive applicants.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
Wednesdays, Periods 7/8 (1:55-3:50)	In-person	Spring 2024

IDS4930 – College Beyond Campus: Town and Gown Relations in Action (1 credit)

This course invites students to learn about college beyond campus: the historical context, ongoing challenges, and potential of "town and gown" relations between communities and nearby institutions of higher education, with a focus on Gainesville and the University of Florida. This course will encourage students to critically understand their role as neighbors and active citizens and develop the skills to identify and contribute to more collaborative community-engaged approaches in their academic, personal, and professional lives.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
Thursdays, Period 9 (4:05-4:55)	In-person	Spring 2024

IDS4930 – Effective Interpersonal Skills: From College to Career (1 credit)

This course introduces the foundational interpersonal skills needed to communicate appropriately and effectively in college and in the workplace. Students will learn and practice key skills such as non-verbal communication, attending behavior, asking questions, observational skills, active listening, paraphrasing and summarizing, reflecting feelings/meanings, reframing and assertiveness.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
Mondays, Period 4 (10:40-11:30)	In-person	Spring 2024

IDS4930 - Law & Literature (3 credits)

This course will look at potential legal issues in certain literary texts. The focus of the course will entail analyzing these legal issues, taking a position on them, and writing persuasive legal briefs in support of these positions. Students will perform mock trials, hearings, and depositions and present before a live jury.

Day/Time:	Delivery	Semester
Mondays/Wednesdays/Fridays, Period 6 (12:50-1:40)	In-person	Spring 2024

Questions? Reach out to us at beyond120@advising.ufl.edu

